TPI Integrated Solutions, LLC Partners with Conexus to Offer REO Solutions to Banks

- Partnership to help more banks reduce REO properties across nation -

Louisville, Ky. and Birmingham, Ala., Nov. 12, 2009 – Conexus, LLC, a leading provider of integrated automation, compliance and monitoring software solutions, including its REO Optimizer and CONEXXUS® patent-pending monitoring and process automation software platform, and TPI Integrated Solutions, LLC (TIS), a business consultancy offering services and solutions to financial institutions, announced a strategic agreement to offer TIS' existing and future customers access to a complete and secure solution that includes digital workflow, document management and completeness monitoring. Banks utilizing REO Optimizer will benefit from the organization of property documentation, automation of manual administrative work, decreased brokers fees, increased sales prices and expedited decision-making regarding distressed properties.

Led by former Superintendent of Alabama State Banks and 30-year veteran of banking and financial services, Norm Davis, president of TIS, understands the specific issues banks face and provides custom solutions to alleviate such issues. The mission of TIS is to assist banks streamline workflow, increase efficiency and expedite movement of REO properties.

According to Davis, "Banks nationwide are experiencing record delinquency and default rates, and as a result are dealing with properties and issues not seen in decades. Buyers know how to reflect risk and protect their interests in pricing. REO Optimizer helps banks accomplish the same in a proactive and cost effective manner which greatly increases the chances of a "more favorable" outcome for the bank based on current market conditions, which almost certainly would not happen in the absence of timely access to information."

"Conexus is excited to partner with TPI Integrated Solutions," said Jeff Reibel, CEO of Conexus. "Mr. Davis' qualifications have enabled him to quickly recognize the unique gap REO Optimizer fills for bank management. Banks are struggling to manage through the large volumes of distressed loans and our platform helps them understand what they have from a decision-making standpoint. TIS understands the position banks are facing today with construction and development loans and commercial loans, and we look forward to working with Mr. Davis and his team to help more banks deal with this issue."
